COUNCIL ANNOUNCES 'RADICAL' RESTRUCTURE

Senior management trio to take voluntary redundancy as authority seeks savings of £1.9m in bid to balance the books

Report by Kenny Parker

WEST Lancs Council has announced a "radical" restructuring of services in a bid to become self-sustaining, including the voluntary redundancy of chief executive, Kim Webber and two other senior management staff.

The agreed redundancies are part of a package of savings and measures which the authority hopes will help deliver a sustainable and self-financing council by 2021.

The council estimates it needs to find £1.9m of savings or income by 2021/22 to balance the books, as it now receives no revenue support grant from the Government.

It is believed £1.4m will be saved as a result of the management restructure and there are plans to achieve a further £1m in income generation and efficiencies over three years.

Director of development and regeneration, John Harrison and borough solicitor Terry Broderick are the other senior staff set to go in the shake-up.

The measures received the backing of all councillors at an extraordinary meeting of full council on Wednesday, July 10 except the six Our West Lancashire representatives who opted to abstain. The party says its members felt it was wrong to support the redundancy of the experienced Kim Webber at a time of major change.

Kim Webber.

At a press conference following the meeting, Councillor Adam Yates, portfolio holder for resources and transformation, described the changes as radical.

From November 4, the council will put in place a chief operating officer model. The chief operating officer will be supported by a corporate director of place and community and a corporate director of transformation & resources with an estimated saving of £0.314m per annum.

John Harrison.

The council says that, working together, these senior staff members will deliver its objectives, together with further income, efficiency and service improvements.

As part of the changes the delivery of council services such as planning, housing and refuse and recycling will be brought together within one directorate to provide a neighbourhood focus and integrated approach "to best meet the needs of those living and working across the borough".

Terry Broderick.

Councillors also agreed changes to support investment opportunities and a more effective approach to digital technology.

The council will invest around £800,000 in the borough including in the refurbishment and enhancement of leisure facilities in Burscough and regeneration initiatives such as Wheatsheaf Walks in Ormskirk, and Skelmersdale's gateway improvements.

Kim Webber, who joined the council as assistant chief executive in 1999 and became chief executive in 2015, said: "It has been a privilege to serve the council and communities of West Lancashire as chief executive and be supported by dedicated colleagues across the council.

"I have been able to lead and implement change and improvements throughout my career at the council and have steered this review for future sustainability to benefit those living and working in West Lancashire."

Leader of the council, Councillor Ian Moran, said: "I would like to place on record my grateful thanks to Kim, not only for the 20 years of dedicated service to this council, but her commitment and drive to ensure the council is ready to be self-financing.

"Alongside other authorities across the country we face significant financial pressure as the Government reduce funding and it is important to my cabinet that we do this with the least impact to the frontline services that are so highly valued and relied on by residents."

John Harrison joined West Lancs Coouncil in 1979 as a planning technician and following a succession of

Suggestions invited for council's 2019/20 Work Programme

'Tell us what's important to you' call to residents

WEST Lancs Council is inviting residents to submit topic suggestions for consideration for inclusion in its Work Programme for 2019/20.

Through its work, the corporate and environmental overview and scrutiny committee will bring forward appropriate recommendations to cabinet and council which can influence future decisions on policy and important decisions the council may make.

Councillor Vickie Cummins, chair of the corporate & environmental overview and scrutiny committee, said: "Scrutiny is an important part of our democratic duties and I am looking forward to hearing residents' thoughts and suggestions for consideration by the committee to assist us in setting a work programme for scrutiny topics that can help make a real difference to the borough."

Topics can cover any area of the council's work and in some cases the work of partner organisations that might have significance for the local community in West Lancashire.

The reviews carried out by the committee provide a valuable insight into issues facing local communities and can assist the work of the council.

Councillor Vickie Cummins.

Reviews in previous years have covered a wide range of topics including cycling in West Lancashire; healthy schools; alcohol and associated problems; speeding traffic; climate change; affordable housing; neighbourhood management; older peoples' services and more recently litter bin policy.

Deadline

Anyone who has a suggestion they think might be suitable can email their ideas to member.services@westlancs.gov.uk or call 01695 585065.

The deadline for suggestions is Monday, August 19.

Corporate and environmental overview and scrutiny committee are held at the Council offices, 52 Derby Street, Ormskirk and the public are welcome to attend. Dates of future meetings, starting at 7pm, are: Thursday, October 10; Thursday, December 5 and Thursday, March 5, 2020.

Residents who want to speak on an agenda item must submit their request by 10am the Friday before the relevant meeting. Agendas are published on www.westlancs.gov.uk/coins a week before the committee.

Requests can be submitted by email to member.services@westlancs.gov.uk or by sending it to: Member Services, West Lancashire Borough Council, 52 Derby Street, Ormskirk.

For more information about the work of the overview and scrutiny committees visit www.westlancs.gov.uk/scrutiny.

Manager fears for future of Men-Aces after loss of winter training facility

College says Government funding cuts mean it can no longer afford to hire sports hall outside of student hours

Report by Kenny Parker

MANAGER of the Skem Men-Aces Disability Football Club Carl Eaton says he fears for its future after being informed by West Lancashire College that they will no longer be able to use its hall in Skelmersdale for their winter training.

Just a week after the award-winning club celebrated its 10th anniversary, Carl received an email which, he says, "has blown all our celebrations into insignificance."

The manager says he was told that from August 31 the sports hall at the college's Skelmersdale campus will no longer be available for commercial hire.

He added that the indoor facility was vital for the club in the winter months as the weather simply becomes too harsh for many of vulnerable adults who make up the Men-Aces squad to cope with.

Carl said he believed that whoever had made the decision was clearly not aware of the impact it would have.

However, the college has told the Champion that due to Government funding cuts it could no longer afford to hire the facility outside of student hours.

A distraught Carl Eaton added: "This has got the end of Men-Aces all over it. It's devastating, absolutely devastating.

"We have had no explanation of why this decision has been made and the thing that has really brassed me off is that I have been given just five weeks' notice.

"What am I supposed to do?

"I have already had four lads from the team, all with leaning disabilities, crying down the phone asking: 'Is the end of the Men-Aces?'

Men-Aces manager Carl Eaton receiving the freedom of the borough in 2017 from then Mayor, Councillor Neil Furey.

"What am I supposed to tell them?

"As a club have always struggled for places to train on during the summer but it hasn't been an issue in the winter, for the last five or six years we have relied on the college.

"They can have no idea the upset this has caused to so many people."

Carl said that they are looking at approaching local schools for an alternative venue but stressed they need a base in Skelmersdale for access reasons.

Skelmersdale North borough councilor Neil Furey has said he will write to the college to ask it to reconsider.

Councillor Furey said: "I am shocked and appalled with the decision taken by West Lancashire College. Skem Men-Aces rely on this facility for their winter training and to lose these arrangements now will cause them some difficulty.

"The college has completely failed to understand the consequences of their decision and has taken no account of the impact this will have on the Skem Men-Aces.

"For many years the Men-Aces have received strong support from residents who are very fond of their achievements. I will be calling on West Lancashire College to reconsider."

A spokesperson for West Lancashire College said: "It is with regret that after nine consecutive years of Government cuts to further education funding in England, we have taken the decision to withdraw the ability to hire our facilities outside of our usual working hours.

"The cost of opening a state-of-the-art building outside of usual student hours is extremely high and facilities hire has come at a significant loss to the college for a number of years.

"West Lancashire College campaigns for fairer funding for the further education sector and this problem is symptomatic of the under-funding issue colleges face.

"The college is committed to allowing the facilities to be hired during our opening hours and will work with stakeholders to provide a sustainable or alternative solution.

"We will continue to focus on our core business, providing high-quality education to the local people and community of West Lancashire."

Primary school deputy head wins Mentor of the Year award

A TRAINEE teacher mentor with the North West SCITT (School-Centred Initial Teacher Training) programme in Skelmersdale has been named Mentor of the Year by the National Association of School-Based Teacher Trainers (NASBTT).

Denise Heath, who is deputy head at Crow Orchard Primary School, beat off fierce competition to win the prestigious award.

The category recognises outstanding mentors who inspire other new and aspiring teachers to take up this important and often underrated role in school.

In awarding the Mentor of the Year prize, the judging panel comprising of education and ITT experts said: "The nomination cites that Denise 'has the perfect skill-set as a mentor; adapting and amending her own style as the trainees gain confidence and competence.

Over the past five years not only has she trained 14 primary trainees but she has also taken a leading role in developing other colleagues for the mentoring role and been proactive in contributing to key developments in the SCITT's training programme.

Denise 'ensures that any changes to the programme are suitable and manageable for the trainee teachers as well as school-based mentors. Her honest and sensible reflection has been invaluable to us as the programme has developed over the years'. As if this was not enough, Denise is 'determined to ensure that high-quality trainees are recruited to the programme and offers the opportunity for interested individuals to spend time in their classroom in order to gain a true and realistic understanding of the demands of teaching'."

Denise receives her award from Neil Brading of sponsors Outset Teacher Education.

On receiving the award, 48-year-old Denise, who lives in Burscough, said: "I am both delighted and shocked to be the first recipient of NASBTT's Mentor of the Year award, particularly for something that I thoroughly enjoy doing.

"I would like to say thank-you to Dawn Davies (executive lead) and the team at North West SCITT, who over the last five years have allowed me to mentor some amazing trainee teachers, all of whom have gone on to become outstanding teachers in their own right.

"It is an honour to be part of their training. It gives me great personal satisfaction to see them become amazing teachers, who go on to inspire and change children's lives.

"Thanks must also go to NASBTT for hosting such a fantastic awards evening and congratulations to all the winners."

The inaugural NASBTT Awards, held at the Union Jack Club in London this month were launched to celebrate excellence in school-based teacher education and recognise the exceptionally hard-working and talented professionals involved in driving the profession.

Sponsoring NASBTT's Mentor of the Year award category was Outset Teacher Education, which provides e-portfolio solutions to support teachers' professional development.

Radical restructure at borough council

promotions was appointed director of development and regeneration in 2016.

Terry Broderick joined the council's legal team in November 1990.

Redundancy payments of £112,386, £90,616 and £64,205 respectively will be made to Ms Webber, Mr Harrison and Mr Broderick. A total payment of £422,000 will also be made towards their pension costs.

Councillor Adrian Owens, leader of Our West Lancashire, said that though they acknowledged that the council had some hard decisions to make to balance the books they felt it was wrong to allow the council's chief executive to leave in November at the start of a major restructuring process which will take more than a year to implement.

He said: "We proposed an amendment that would have retained the chief executive while still balancing the books. Her 20-plus years of experience with the council could have been retained to steer the ship through these coming changes and local taxpayers would have avoided a very large voluntary redundancy package that will reduce the amount of capital projects the council can support next year."

Second Holiday Breakfast Club venue

FOUNDER of the Skelmersdale Holiday Breakfast Club, Councillor Claire Cooper, says she is pleased to announce that the club will now be providing free breakfasts and packed lunches at two venues in the town during the school summer holidays.

Holiday Breakfast Club will continue at Tanhouse Community Centre, Ennerdale, in partnership with the Birchwood Centre, the Junk Food Cafe and Tanhouse Together. And a new venue will also be in operation this year at The Zone, also supported by the Birchwood Centre and Junk Food Cafe, along with Lancashire County Council, West Lancashire Children and Family Wellbeing Service, and PULSE, which is based in the Concourse.

Both venues will offer a free, healthy breakfast and a packed lunch, as well as creative activities and games from Monday to Friday from 9.30 to 10.30am each day.

Councillor Cooper said: "The Holiday Breakfast scheme has been a great success. We've served hundreds of breakfasts and packed lunches since we began in May 2018 and we are very grateful for the support of the public who have donated cereals, fruit, bread, craft materials and toys, as well as cash donations. However without our volunteers, it would be impossible to run."

The club will run from Monday, July 29 to Friday, August 30 (except for the Bank Holiday Monday) and is open to everyone, although children should be accompanied by an adult.

Anyone wishing to volunteer, or donate food and toys can get in touch with Claire on 07742 927689.

Chance to snap up a prize in photo club's Green Fayre competition

THE Beacon Photographic Club is holding a competition to see who can take the best pictures when the Green Fayre returns to the Beacon Country Park on Saturday and Sunday, July 20 and 21.

The club, which meets at the Wardens Social Club in Blaguegate Lane, Skelmersdale, will also have a stall at the popular event for the first time with members' images on display and officials on hand to talk about the club or answer any questions visitors may have about photography.

For the competition the club is inviting members of the public to submit two images taken at the fair. It is open to photographers of any age or ability although the club is keen to encourage juniors to enter.

There will be prizes for the top three winners. The last day to submit entries is Sunday, August 4. Winners will be announced by September 1 via the club's website and Facebook page.

To enter, email a maximum of two images from the Green Fayre to bpc-competitions@outlook.com with your name and contact details, plus your age if under 18.

NEXT meeting of the Skelmersdale University of the Third Age (U3A) group will be held on Thursday, July 18 at the Ecumenical Centre when guest speaker, Zoe Gibson will give a talk entitled 'American Presidents...Who...Why...and When'. This starts at 2.15pm and is expected to finish around 4pm. All are welcomed to attend.

Edge Hill shortlisted for best student 'digs' accolade at the double

. . . and Ormskirk campus is bidding for a hat-trick of triumphs in halls category

EDGE Hill University has once again been shortlisted in two categories for the 2019 National Student Housing Survey awards.

The Ormskirk site will be represented in the Best University Halls and Best Value for Money categories - both of which they were victorious in last year!

And they will be going for a hat-trick in the latter category - having also won Best University Halls in 2016.

Nominations are based solely on the direct feedback of students.

Head of accommodation services, Kate McAdam, said: "We are delighted to learn of our nominations, a further endorsement of the good work that has been done to provide a safe, welcoming, affordable environment across campus.

The Woodland Court accommodation on campus at Edge Hill University.

"The fact that the awards are voted for by students is a further reflection of how much the efforts of the teams on campus are recognised and strengthens our determination to maintain the campus as among the best available throughout the UK."

There are currently 2,486 rooms available on the Ormskirk campus for first years in a range of catered and traditional halls and modern flats, and second, third and postgraduate students, accommodated in brand new townhouses.

All first-year undergraduate students from the UK and EU who make Edge Hill their first choice are guaranteed a place in the university's halls of residence for year one of their course if they apply before the deadline of July 31.

A refurbishment programme covering half of the existing Main Halls is ongoing and due to be completed ahead of the new academic year.

Kate added: "National research, feedback from students and our demand data shows that students value high quality ensuite accommodation.

"This programme will increase the amount of affordable en suite accommodation we can offer to students, with more than 90 rooms being converted from standard to en suite.

"We pride ourselves on being a university offering high-quality accommodation at competitive rates, and this new programme will further increase the value for money we deliver to students."

The National Student Housing Survey Awards are run by Red Brick Research and University Business and have been running since 2008. This year's winners will be announced on September 10.

Report by Kenny Parker

A MEMORIAL to the former Lathom Remount Depot was officially dedicated with a ceremony attended by civic, religious and military organisations.

The memorial on Hall Lane, Lathom, is a tribute to the men and women who worked at the depot and the more than 300,000 horses from around the world which passed through on their way to serve in the First World War.

Dedicating the memorial was the Bishop of Carlisle, James Newcome, who is a direct descendant of the last Earl of Lathom who had given the park up for the war effort.

Also in attendance was Martin Ainscough, Deputy Lord Lieutenant of Lancashire; County Councillor Paul Rigby, chairman of Lancashire County Council, and the Mayor of West Lancashire, Councillor Gaynar Owen.

Representing the military were Lt. Col. Thompson and Capt.Betts from the Royal Veterinary Corps and the Skelmersdale Veterans' Association.

Chairman of Lathom Parish Council, Councillor Eddie Pope gave a speech in which he welcomed the guests and reminded them of the work that had been achieved at the depot.

He said: "Lathom Park has a long history which was continued during the First World War when more than 5,000 men and women were here together with more than 300,000 horses from around the world to help the war effort.

"We are here today to commemorate their work by dedicating this memorial, marking the entrance to the remount depot so that, long after we have gone, this period of time will be rightly remembered."

Mr Pope acknowledged and gave thanks to the people, organisations, and companies, who were instrumental in bringing the memorial into being.

He told of how information about the Remount Depot was first unearthed by archaeologist and historian Nigel Neil in 2006 and of how Peter Ferguson, working on behalf of Lathom Parish Council, met with Richard Houghton and Laurence Critchley of the Lathom & Burscough Military Heritage Society in 2012 to discuss possible plans for a memorial.

"This culminated with Lathom Park Trust and West Lancashire Heritage committing £1,500 each to the project,

"The memorial was finally delivered in 2017 and remained under wraps until Richard Houghton completed an extensive piece of work to enable the memorial to be secured and positioned appropriately. This could not have been achieved without considerable help of local firms, Crompton Property Developments, Huws Gray, AMV Engineering and Jupiter Coast, together with the hard physical effort of Richard and Ivor Waite.

"We owe a great deal of thanks to all involved - too many to mention by name, but from all the members of Lathom Park Trust, West Lancashire Heritage, Lathom and Burscough Military Heritage and the parish council.

"I would like to extend my personal thanks to Richard and Peter for their sustained efforts to bring this project to fruition."

Cllr. Pope also thanked Lathom School for their enthusiastic involvement with the project.

Volunteers wanted to lend a hand at New Town Reclamation painting event

SKELMERSDALE residents are invited to take part in a collaborative painting event called New Town Reclamation on Saturday and Sunday, July 20 and 21.

Members of the Glassball project and artist André Stitt are calling on local residents to work together painting and reclaiming two original public artworks from when the New Town was built.

Thanks to funding from the Community Fund, artists from Glassball have been delivering slideshows of previously unseen glass slides from the town and illuminating the images from the recent past to inform and curate a series of temporary public art installations around the town.

These images document the beginning of the New Town and the subsequent years before the Skelmersdale Development Corporation ceased to operate.

The scheme, called ILLUME, is a three-year public arts project funded by Arts Council England and Lancashire County Council.

A spokesman for the project said: "With the New Town Reclamation events we will be re-imagining the past relationship Skelmersdale had with the remaining public artworks installed during the development of this former New Town."

The two artworks, made by Mike Cumiskey in the late 1960s, are situated by two subways along Railway Road, Skelmersdale.

All equipment will be provided and no previous experience is necessary.

The spokesman added: "Just come along for a look and a chat with the artists, or grab a paint brush and get involved for however long or short you can spare."

On Saturday the event will run from 10am to 3pm, followed by talks from 4.30pm by the artists involved and projected rare images of the town, with refreshments supplied at the E-Rooms close by.

And Sunday the painting event will start at 10.30am.

Further events and installations will be taking place during the summer.

For more details go to the website www.illume.org.uk.

Ward councillors to hold monthly surgeries for Ashurst residents

RESIDENTS of Ashurst will have the opportunity to discuss any issues and ideas for their neighbourhood at new monthly surgeries being held by their local councillors.

The next surgery will be on Friday, July 26 at Ashurst Community Centre from 5 to 6pm when Labour borough councillors for Ashurst ward, Yvonne Gagen and Janice Monaghan, will be in attendance alongside Labour county councillor for Skelmersdale West, Julie Gibson.

Councillor Monaghan said: "We are keen to hear residents' views on how their councillors can continue to improve Ashurst for everyone who lives, works and plays here.

"In recent months we have been busy organising litter-picks, clearing weeds and graffiti from our estates. We have some exciting plans for later in the year, involving local schools helping us to plant new trees and bushes."

Cllr. Yvonne Gagen.

Cllr. Janice Monaghan.

County Cllr. Julie Gibson.

Councillor Gagen also highlighted further work being carried out at wildlife spots around Ashurst, adding: "The Labour group are delighted with the work that has taken place in Cobbs Clough woods.

"The new footpaths have had a massive impact on the community, opening up the Clough for people with mobility issues and disabilities, wheelchair-users, parents with prams and pushchairs, walkers and joggers. This is just the first phase of a five-year development plan".

Councillors Gagen and Monaghan are also planning to plant daffodil bulbs around the entrance from Dalton Park to complement the bluebells that flower in the spring.

Cllr. Gagen added: "A huge thank-you goes to all the Rangers and officers who have worked hard with the Labour group to have such initiative, ideas and huge aspirations for the beautiful jewel that is the Tawd Valley in Skelmersdale."

Provisional date set for trial of Alex Davies murder accused

A PROVISIONAL date has been set for the trial of a 17-year-old accused of murdering Skelmersdale teenager Alex Davies.

Popular railway enthusiast Alex Davies, 18, was found dead in a wooded area off Parbold Hill on Wednesday, May 1. Police said he had been stabbed and suffocated.

The accused from Chorley, who cannot be named for legal reasons, did not enter a plea when he appeared before Preston Crown Court on Monday, July 15.

Judge Mark Brown set a provisional trial date for Monday, September 9. However, another hearing to establish whether he is fit to plead will take place on Monday, September 2.

Hospital chaplain helps three families to find the lost burial sites of their stillborn babies

Report by Danielle Thompson

A HOSPITAL chaplain has helped three families to find the graves of babies lost in tragic circumstances in the 1970s and held special remembrance services to help them to find closure.

Each of the families contacted Reverend Martin Abrams, chaplain at Southport and Ormskirk hospitals, after seeing a television programme encouraging parents to discover where their babies were buried.

Rev. Abrams said: "Each family's story had common elements. Their baby was stillborn, or only lived a few hours, and following their death there was no follow-up care and no choice or explanation about what happened next.

"None of the families knew where their baby was buried, if at all. A doctor told one mum simply that her baby 'had been disposed of with other clinical waste.'

"This is very shocking to us today but decades ago it seems to have been common practice."

No records exist of what happened to the babies. However, working with local churches, funeral directors and Sefton crematorium and cemeteries, Martin was able to locate the exact or approximate burial site of the babies.

Each family took up the offer of a short service at their baby's burial place. The final of these services took place in the spring.

Rev. Abrams added: "The feedback from each family has been hugely positive. Each family has spoken of a sense of closure, being able to move on and peace after all the years of anxiety.

"Thankfully, the bereavement support we offer today after a pregnancy or baby loss is very different. Within our own trust the Bereavement Focus Group has brought things on a long way."

Diet-friendly food outlet opens at Concourse Kitchen

All of the flavour without the fat is Denise's aim

Report by Kenny Parker

A DIET-friendly food outlet which aims to help people to create flavoursome dishes without the fat, has opened at the Concourse shopping centre in Skelmersdale.

Winners Not Sinners is the brainchild of local woman Denise Cole, a former senior manager specialising in sales and operations management.

The concept behind the brand, which has opened at the Concourse Kitchen, the centre's street food court, is to make tasty, low-calorie food that is suitable for people trying to lose weight or maintain a healthy lifestyle.

Denise adapts favourite recipes, including Chinese dishes, soups and burritos, retaining all the flavour without the fat. Now, after operating from her home kitchen for the past two years, she has decided to open her first commercial unit.

She first had the idea 19 years ago and returned to it when she was studying for a business management degree.

However, she finally decided to take the plunge in 2017 and began operating from home, quickly building up a local customer base.

Denise Cole in her new food outlet at the Concourse Kitchen.

She said: "Lots of people ask me to work with their diet needs and I have people following Slimming World, Weight Watchers, Keto and so on, but ultimately the key to my food is no fats, lean meat or meat-free products, no thickeners and lots of vegetables.

"Because I pay close attention to the flavour, you wouldn't know you were eating diet food. My belief is that following a healthy diet really shouldn't be a chore and sourcing food on-the-go should be simple.

Excited

"As a local Skelmersdale woman, I'm excited to launch my concept at the Concourse Kitchen and am looking forward to welcoming customers, old and new, as well as offering daily specials."

Concourse shopping centre manager, Gary Mitchell, commented: "It's satisfying to see yet another local, independent food operator opening at the Concourse.

"We've been pleased with the response from shoppers to the Concourse Kitchen so far and we know they'll welcome another vendor."

May Miller with family at her 100th birthday celebrations.

FAMILY and friends from far and wide gathered at Skelmersdale Cricket Club to celebrate May Miller's 100th birthday.

The sprightly centenarian, who still lives independently, moved to the town from Bootle 40 years ago with her late husband, Harry who passed away in 1999.

The couple had two sons and two daughters and nine grandchildren.

And her secret to long life? An active mind - according to daughter-in-law Maureen who said: "May really enjoys doing crosswords and jigsaw puzzles every day."

Flooding action group campaigner wins FoI appeal against council

Report by Kenny Parker

THE leader of a local flood action group has won the right to information from West Lancs Council after a tribunal said the authority had wrongly kept it from him.

Gavin Rattray, secretary of the Burscough Flood Group which has campaigned for improved infrastructure to tackle flooding in the village, made a Freedom of Information request in October 2017 through West Lancs MP Rosie Cooper, for copies of communications, notes and minutes of meetings, and agreements made variously between United Utilities and Environment Agency.

However, the council refused the request on the grounds that there had already been "protracted correspondence" between Mr Rattray and council officers over a number of years.

The authority claimed: "Such voluminous amounts of correspondence have caused a disproportionate level of disruption to the council which is not a good use of the council's limited resources and which has distracted officers from the day-to-day running of council business."

In January 2018, Mr Rattray appealed to the Information Commissioner but in September of that year he learned that his appeal failed. The council further claimed that Mr Rattray had taken an "accusatory tone and manner" in subsequent correspondence to council officers and the Champion.

The flood group leader made a further appeal to the First Tier Tribunal, however, which rejected the Information Commissioner and West Lancs Council's decision and upheld the appeal.

Judge Anthony Snelson, said the council's case was based largely on assertions and it had not provided any evidence of the unreasonable burden Mr Rattray's request would create. He also rejected the council's contention that Mr Rattray's "manner and tone" warranted the conclusion that the request for information was "manifestly unreasonable".

The judge said: "It is certainly true that he has complained vociferously that the council has failed to live up to its responsibilities and has tried to minimise the problems to which he draws attention.

"He has also not hesitated to rehearse the history going back to 2012 and before but there is of itself nothing vexatious about that. Indeed, without doing so he would struggle to make his essential complaint, namely that responsible bodies have had ample time to get to grips with the serious flooding problem and, far from doing so and resolving it, have overseen a state of affairs in which, if anything, it has deteriorated.

"His comments may be unwelcome and perhaps uncomfortable on occasions for council decision-makers but in a democratic society those who hold public office must accept robust challenge from time to time."

Mr Rattray said: "I'm incredibly pleased with the verdict and that the tribunal was so damning of the council's case in its dealing with me and its treatment of a legitimate Freedom of Information request made in the public interest. I hope that councillors and officers will take a great interest in the tribunal comments and make positive changes from within."

A spokesperson for West Lancs Council said the authority is carefully considering the tribunal's decision.

Nursing student trio scoop second award for efforts to promote signing programme

The newly-qualified learning disability nurses, who were also winners of the Student Innovation in Practice accolade in the 2019 Student Nursing Times Awards, were nominated for their continued work in the promotion of the Makaton language, designed to provide a means of communication to people who have difficulty speaking.

Inspired by a mother's story of her daughter's struggle to communicate with healthcare professionals, the students have continued to raise awareness of Makaton signing via workshops, promoting their cards which have since been downloaded over 5,000 times from The Makaton Charity website.

Their work has reached other areas of society thanks to social media, allowing them to engage with a diverse audience who have helped spread the message.

Following the ceremony, which was hosted by TV presenter Kate Garraway, the trio said: "We're absolutely thrilled to have won the Andrew Parker Student Nurse of the Year award.

"It was an amazing evening and we felt privileged to be in the company of such inspirational nurses. We were also lucky enough to raise the profile of Makaton by teaching Kate Garraway to sign 'Hello my name is Kate' and managed to give Emilia Clarke a copy of our Makaton healthcare cards, which we created.

"We are so excited that we won this award and aim to use this platform to raise further awareness around inclusive communication and the profile of learning disability nursing."

County council will withdraw school bus funding next year

Three West Lancs services among those affected

Report by Kenny Parker

LANCASHIRE County Council is to cease funding bus services that do not carry pupils entitled to transport assistance as part of efforts to tackle the authority's budget deficit.

Members of the council's cabinet agreed to withdraw funding for those services where there have been no students entitled to free home to school transport, or school transport assistance, throughout the past two years and where the revenue from fares and season tickets does not cover the cost of the service.

The decision will come into effect from September 2020, giving schools and parents a full academic year's notice before funding is removed.

Affected services in West Lancashire are:

No. 605 Holmeswood-Rufford-Tarleton Academy (used as a connection service to Burscough Priory, Bishop Rawstorne CE Academy, Croston and St Bede's Catholic High School, Ormskirk).

No. 743 Skelmersdale War Memorial-Lathom High School.

County Councillor Phillippa Williamson.

No. 913 Skelmersdale War Memorial-Our Lady Queen of Peace Catholic High School, Skelmersdale.

The cabinet also agreed that county council officers will work with schools and bus operators affected to establish whether arrangements can be made to provide these bus services in future at no cost to the council.

The council will carry out a review of which services are affected every year.

Councils are required to provide free home to school transport for some students, normally by operating a school bus. Where there are seats available, other students can use the bus by buying a season ticket or paying a fare.

The move follows a six-week consultation about the proposal between February and April.

County Councillor Phillippa Williamson, Lancashire's cabinet member for children, young people and schools, said: "This is another very tough decision.

"It is essential that as a council we balance the books and the cabinet did consider all the responses very carefully before making a decision.

"Now that the decision has been made, we've allowed a full academic year so that schools, parents and carers can put arrangements in place.

"We will also use this time to work with schools and bus operators affected to establish whether arrangements can be made to provide these bus services in future at no cost to the council.

"We remain committed to providing the best services we can to the people of Lancashire and particularly to protecting services for the most vulnerable in our communities."

Hospital diabetes team hosts Family Fun Day

FAMILIES and children with diabetes were treated to a special family fun day at Ormskirk Hospital, organised by the children's diabetes team at Southport and Ormskirk Hospital NHS Trust.

Held at at the St Anne's community centre in Aughton, the event featured a host of attractions including a musical performance, bake sale, bingo, kids toy tombola, raffle and outdoor games.

Consultant paediatric endocrinologist with the trust, Dr May Ng, explained: "Our Paediatric Diabetes Charitable Fund annually holds the Family Fun Day event to give families and children with diabetes an opportunity to meet socially, away from hospitals and clinics.

"We thank all the families, colleagues, local businesses who have generously donated to support the event and our charity."

The Southport and Ormskirk Paediatric Diabetes Team cares for more than 150 children with types 1 and 2 diabetes across West Lancashire, Southport and Formby and has won many national awards for its innovative work.

Dr May Ng set up the paediatric diabetes fund 10 years ago, for essential learning and teaching materials for patients, and for the team to hold regular evening education sessions for families and children with diabetes.

Networking date for borough's civic pair

Men-Aces triumph at the double in UK's biggest disability tournament

THE Skem Men-Aces celebrated more success at the double when the whole squad travelled across the Pennines to Harrogate to compete in what is believed to be the UK's biggest disability football tournament.

More than a hundred teams from across the country took part, with the Men-Aces fielding four sides in four different bands of ability - and two of them were crowned winners of their groups.

Coaches, Carl and Mim Eaton, said: "We had a 'runner'going between the games to keep everyone updated on the state of play. It was all very exciting but tense.

"And at the end of a long hot day, the Skem lads found themselves on the podium twice for being winners of their groups, which was a massive result and a great accolade to have.

"The coach on the way home was full of song and excitement."

Police chief praises community response to online appeal for information

Report by Henry James

A POLICE chief has thanked the Skelmersdale community for their help following his online appeal last week.

Chief Inspector Ian Jones from Lancashire Police had posted on the video-sharing website YouTube urging residents to come forward to contact him with any information following a rise in knife-related crime in the town.

Following on from that he said: "There have been no further incidents in our community which is brilliant news.

"After we received information from the community two people have been arrested in connection with one of the woundings. They have been released on bail.

"We have also had another bit of good news on how communities can help themselves. Motorbikes had been driven round our schools, but after we received information we managed to locate one of the bikes which was stolen. Our forensics teams are now looking at that bike.

"Our key contacts in the community have told us that people are talking on the local social networks about who is behind these crimes, such as storing motorbikes and hiding knives etc. We would urge these people to talk to us through Crimestoppers and on the Internet.

"When we are aware of these people, we can deal with them and help make our communities safe.

"Thank you very much for the information we have been sent so far and we hope it continues."

Chief Inspector Ian Jones.

Stolen motorbike recovered with help from helicopter

SKELMERSDALE Police recovered a stolen motorbike in the Eskbank area of Tanhouse on Friday, July 5, with the assistance of the police helicopter.

Officers said the stolen bike (pictured) would be returned to its rightful owner after crime scene investigators had completed their examinations.

The photo of the grass verge by the Pimbo turn-off of the M58 submitted by a Champion reader.

Unkempt grass verges at M58 turn-off give bad first impression of town - claim

AN angry resident has contacted the Champion to complain about the state of the grass verges at the Pimbo turn-off of the M58 which she says are giving visitors and potential investors a bad first impression of the town.

The woman, who prefers to remain anonymous, sent a picture (above) of the turn-off and called on the local authorities to do something to address the problem.

She said: "As you can see in the image provided, the border at the entrance is covered in weeds and overgrown grass.

"This is the first part of the town potential buyers and businesses see as they come to the area.

"It just shows what a poor job the council - whichever is responsible - does to upkeep the grass verges. If you were to take any other exit of the M58, it would be neatly cut and would give a good impression.

"All the people that work or conduct business in these areas are given a bad impression and we all know first impressions make a huge difference on which company a prospective customer or client chooses."

The county council, which is the highways authority, has been contacted for comment.

Parents urged to warn kids about dangers of open water swimming

WITH the school summer holidays just around the corner the Royal Society for the Prevention of Accidents is urging parents to speak to their children about the dangers of swimming in open water.

Although hot weather 'on land' during the summer months might tempt people to cool off with a swim, the temperature of open water will still be low and bathers could get into difficulties as a result of cold water shock.

The society warns that cold water shock can affect even the strongest swimmers, and every year hundreds of people drown in open water at the coast and at inland waterways such as canals, rivers and lochs.

David Walker, leisure safety manager at RoSPA, said: "The main danger when swimming in open water is cold water shock, which affects your ability to breathe, overwhelms your ability to swim, and leads to drowning.

"It can affect even the strongest swimmers. Even though it's hot outside, the water temperature is low enough to trigger cold water shock.

"Other dangers to look out for are currents, hidden objects and features such as weirs which drag people below the surface.

"The UK has some of the world's best coastline and waterways, and we encourage people to go out and enjoy them, but it's important to be aware of the dangers. If you are planning to go swimming choose a safe place such as a lido or lifeguarded beach. But if you do find yourself in trouble, remember to float first - fight your instinct to swim - control your breathing, then kick to the side.

"We urge parents to search online for facts about cold water shock and have that conversation with children today."

For more information about the dangers of open water swimming visit www.rospa.com/Leisure-Safety/Water/Advice/Children-Young-People/.

Pharmacy's fundraiser for charity foundation

Customers can now pick up a book - as well as their tablets! - in aid of a worthy cause...

CUSTOMERS at a local pharmacy can now pick up a book as well as their prescriptions - and make a welcome donation to a worthy cause at the same time!

The Ormskirk Pharmacy in Derby Street is selling books donated by staff and customers for a donation of 50p to the Bella Butterfly Foundation set up by Laura and James Durran-Smith to buy cuddle cots and other much-needed equipment for hospitals.

The couple from Westhead were prompted to launch the campaign following their own experience.

Tragically, their baby, Isabella Jayne, was stillborn after Laura was rushed to hospital for lifesaving emergency abdominal surgery when seven months pregnant.

However, although she was unconscious and in intensive care for three days, Laura was still able to spend time with her baby after the hospital obtained a 'cuddle cot' from another trust.

A cuddle cot is a cooling mattress that slows down the body's deterioration and can be placed in a cot or pram, enabling parents to stay with their babies for days or even weeks before their funeral, hugging them, dressing them and even taking them out for walks.

And although the foundation has already raised enough money to buy Southport Hospital its own cuddle cot, Laura and James were keen to continue fundraising to provide the important equipment for other trusts.

The couple are regular customers of the Ormskirk Pharmacy and when trainee pharmacy technician Amy Rushton heard about their story she was so moved that she decided to set up the book-selling initiative to help.

She said: "We are supporting the Bella Butterfly Foundation as James and Laura are regular patients of ours. They told us how a cuddle cot allowed them to spend precious time with their daughter even after their loss in such tragic and traumatic circumstances. They were inspired to raise funds to help other hospitals purchase this valuable piece of equipment and we want to do our bit to help them achieve their goals."

We can all do our bit to help keep the town cleaner and litter-free

I REGULARLY walk around Ormskirk taking in different routes and it has become apparent to me over the last couple of years the amount of rubbish building up in certain areas, some worse than others.

What concerns me most is the amount of plastic bottles and cans which can sit in the road gulleys for weeks.

Also, as many people are probably aware, with the grass and weeds now growing and especially the weeds getting out of hand on and around pavements, is also an eyesore.

Our gateways in and out of Ormskirk have lost their once-welcoming appearance and it upsets me that most people seem to just accept this. We have, I think, become blind to what goes on around us, walking past rubbish, thinking someone else will pick it up (but the reality is the council don't as much as they once did).

Obviously most of the rubbish is prevalent on the main roads and I would ask if most householders (if they can physically) just step outside onto the pavements and have a look around and pick up what you can see and put it in your recycling bins. If we all did this, Ormskirk would be a cleaner, litter-free place.

I have done some voluntary litter-picks - and, yes I have checked I am not taking someone's job - and it would appear that the council are obviously happy for this to happen. Although the other day when a voluntary pick-up was due, they beat us to it and had a small pick-up along Holborn Hill.

But if anyone from the council is reading this, you need to target the top of Holborn Hill from Christ Church going towards Maghull.

I say, 'keep Ormskirk tidy' and if we all do our bit, it will definitely look a better place.

Mrs A. Gallagher, by email.

RE: Nigel Daish's letter regarding a Skelmersdale Railway Station (July 10).

What a waste of money the distraction of bringing heavy rail back to Skelmersdale has been. Just examining the option that millions of pounds have come up with (paying for the Grip 1 and 2 studies, never mind Grip 3) should make you laugh. It actually swings into and out of the Glenburn dream facility from the existing Wigan-Kirkby track!

This is no replacement for the famed 'Jazzer' or the 'Burscough Curves' which linked Skem to Ormsirk and the north-south to east-west lines. The current study uses a line with a slow grind west through Kirkby and everything else down the road at Wigan. Why bring heavy rail in to do this?

Why not just create a light rail (tram) infrastructure benefiting Skelmersdale itself and linking Pimbo station to the town's infrastructure (there is also land there at the edge of the Pimbo industrial estate which could accommodate a park and ride for the existing heavy rail station). Then improve the service on that line!

Nobody will be coming to Skem to look at its railway station just because it is part of the current 'vision'. Rail is just a part of the transport infrastructure that connects people enabling them to come and go efficiently.

As well as having places to go to, we need something people want to come to - heavy rail doesn't provide an answer to that.

We can't even get back from Southport on the bus after 20.43 and if you go to Liverpool from Skem make sure your train gets to Ormskirk before 21.16 or there's no bus to get you home. That's why people in Skem learned to use taxis so much!

If we can't get simple things to work for Skem what chance of a heavy rail pipedream doing anything for us - other than costing us millions!

Cuthbert Jackson,
Skelmersdale.

Revamp of leisure facilities must not be at the expense of our green open space

I WOULD hope that West Lancs Council will scrap the plans to build a leisure and wellbeing centre on Church Fields in Coronation Park.

Why can't the empty Hants Lane college building be used as a centre?

This must surely be a cheaper option.

Yes, Park Pool does need a revamp but not at the expense of green open space.

As for the promise to restore Park Pool back to parkland, don't hold your breath. Will they run out of money before this comes to fruition?

It appears that West Lancs Council don't care about the environment.

Concerned Ormskirk resident,
details supplied.

More action - not words - needed on potholes

WITH reference to County Councillor Iddon and the story about potholes (Champion, July 3) I can't believe he is asking the public to help in reporting any in the area.

He only needs to go to Burscough and look at that disgusting part of the road that has been like that for three years or more.

As for the cost of repairs, I understand the Government set aside £20m or £30m in the last Budget for that purpose so to say its the council's money is not correct.

More action please not words.

G.W., Aughton.

PICTURE of the week

GOLDEN sunset... Reader Andrew Rawsthorne from Ormskirk submitted this shot which he captured while running over Clieves Hills Lane, Aughton on a summer's evening.

If you would like to submit a photo to be considered for our Picture of the Week slot, you can simply email it to us at editorial@champnews.com.

Please remember to include your name, the area where you live and brief caption details.

A humbling reminder of what we all owe our wonderful ambulance and paramedic teams

I HAVE been glued to following the North West Ambulance crew go about their 12 hour shifts these past few weeks, BBC1 on Thursday evenings.

Their professionalism and care towards all their patients has been most humbling and reminds us how day in and night out they have to react to whatever emergency faces them, serious road accidents, suicides, both major and minor needs plus false calls etc.

They are the salt of the earth and should be treated with the greatest of respect by the Public. For they too, at the end of the day are human beings working to make a living for themselves and their families.

It was good also to see the faces behind the telephones and to see how emotionally they become involved in calls that they hold onto whilst the ambulance staff rush to help them.

I would just like to say a big thank-you to all these wonderful workers, as our family over the years have also benefited from ambulance and paramedic care.

Judy Ingman,
Whalley Drive Aughton.

Thanks to generous customers and staff at Morrison's

ON behalf of Merseyside Children's Holiday Fund I would like to thank customers of Morrison's Supermarket, Ormskirk, for their generosity at our bag-packing event on Sunday, June 23.

We raised £859.97 which will be used to help disadvantaged children to enjoy a week's holiday at the Colomendy Centre in North Wales in August.

It was so encouraging to receive so much support financially for the holiday but also the many kind words expressed to our volunteers.

Thanks also to the management and staff at Morrison's.

Liz Wynne, Secretary, Merseyside
Children's Holiday Fund.

Nursing 'revolution' champion talks to hospital trust teams

Campaign calls for patients to remain active as long as possible and reduce bed rest

A GLOBALLY renowned champion of a revolution in nursing visited Southport and Ormskirk Hospital NHS Trust to kick-off his 'End PJ Paralysis' event (July 10-12).

Brian Dolan, Honorary Professor of Leadership in Healthcare at the University of Salford, advocates that older patients remain as active as they can and do not spend more time having bed rest than they need to.

During his visit to the trust he spoke to teams at both Ormskirk and Southport hospitals about the importance of focusing on patients' time.

He said: "Older patients could be in the final 1,000 days of their lives, so we must always focus on making sure we do not waste a moment of this. Prolonged bed rest can be damaging and unhelpful, which is why we want patients to think about ditching the PJs, and for all hospital teams to stay focused on getting people home to enjoy their lives."

Juliette Cosgrove, director of nursing, midwifery and therapies, at the trust, added: "Research shows that for people over the age of 80, every 10 days of bed rest is equal to 10 years of muscle ageing.

"Hospital stays also increase confusion and can make dementia worse. So it is vital to get people up, dressed and moving as soon as possible.

"Ending 'PJ Paralysis' is vital and it requires a shift in thinking about what a hospital stay involves.

"Families and friends can help by bringing clothes for elderly patients and encouraging them to keep moving. This really speeds up recovery and makes it more likely that people can return to their own homes, which is what many people want when they are in their later years."

To support the campaign on Thursday, July 11, nursing teams at Ormskirk and Southport hospitals went to work in their PJs and encouraged patients to get up and get dressed.

The trust has also produced a leaflet about how to prepare yourself or your relatives for going home after a hospital stay and this can be viewed on its website at https://www.southportandormskirk.nhs.uk/patients-and-visitors/discharge-home/.

Planning Ahead

Nobody likes to think about their own mortality and this is often cited as the main reason why most people do not put in place a Will. The reality is though, that if you do put a Will in place, then on your death your estate may end up in the hands of people who you would never dream of benefitting and, although rare, in the hands of the Crown.

Putting in place a Will can also assist with Inheritance Tax planning and while the rules relating to Inheritance Tax have changed favourably in the last few years, with the introduction of the Residential Nil Rate Band for qualifying estates, the reality is that the Inheritance Tax allowance has remained frozen at £325,000 since 6th April 2009, over 10 years. Over that period inflation has increased by more than 36%. For the previous financial year, HMRC collected £5.4 billion in Inheritance Tax receipts with this expected to increase in future years as property prices rise.

There are also steps you can take in a Will to help protect your estate from potential future care costs. By using trusts, assets can be protected for future beneficiaries. The average costs of a year in a care home can easily reach well over £50,000.

When thinking about a Will, you should also put in place a Lasting Power of Attorney to enable people you have nominated to look after your finances and welfare if you cannot do so yourself. This covers if you were to develop Alzheimer's or dementia in future, as well as other circumstances. If you do not have a Lasting Power of Attorney in place beforehand, you cannot put one in place once you have lost the capacity to do so and this can cause a lot of problems for you and your family.

When putting in place a Will and Lasting Power of Attorney, the advice of a qualified solicitor should always be sought. It is all too common, with so much information available online, for people to try and do their own Will and Lasting Power of Attorney only for mistakes to be made which can lead to family disputes and financial consequences.

Therefore, if you want to have any say on where your estate ends up, want to make sure that as much of your estate as possible ends up with your family and want to have some say over who looks after your finances and welfare if you can't, then you should put in place a Will and Lasting Power of Attorney, prepared by a qualified and regulated solicitor.

MP urges Government to bring forward new law on danger driving

WEST Lancs MP Rosie Cooper has spoken in Parliament calling on the Government to bring forward its "long-promised creation" of a new driving offence, causing serious injury by careless driving.

Ms Cooper joined fellow North West MPs at the Westminster Hall Debate on an e-petition relating to dangerous driving, put forward by Petitions Committee member Helen Jones, the MP, for Warrington North.

The petition was launched by the parents of four-year-old Violet-Grace Youens who was killed by a speeding car near to her home in St Helens in 2017.

It calls on the Government to honour its promise of bringing in life sentences for those convicted of dangerous driving.

The petiion read: 'In October 2017, the Government promised life sentences for death by dangerous driving. It's now 2019. Innocent people have been killed, but nothing has changed. The law is out of date.

'Anyone convicted of death by dangerous driving should receive life imprisonment with a minimum tariff of 15 years. If more than one person is killed or injured, the sentences must run separately.'

At the same time, the Government also pledged to create the new driving offence of causing serious injury by careless driving. If this had been in place at the time Burscough resident Georgia Addy was hit by a careless van driver, he would have faced a stiffer punishment than the £500 fine he received.

Rosie Cooper: "Victims want to see justice."

During the debate, Ms Cooper said: "The Government promised to introduce life sentences for death by dangerous driving and to create a new offence of causing serious injury by careless driving two years ago.

"Many families across this country - , including my constituent Mr Addy from Burscough whose daughter was mown down in 2016 by a driver who received a fine of £500 and no jail sentence - are waiting for these promises to become law.

"Does my Honourable Friend agree that not only do we need the appropriate punishment but effective deterrence for dangerous and careless driving, excessive speeding, reckless joyriding and we need it now, everyone has waited long enough."

Tougher sentences

Speaking afterwards the West Lancs MP commented: "It is clear there is a desire for change both from the public across the country and from MPs in Parliament, but the Ministry of Justice has so far failed to make any progress on introducing the new minimum sentence or creating the new offence.

"Government needs to get a move on and act now to ensure appropriate punishments are handed down to offenders, and also in the hope that tougher sentences will deter these careless and reckless drivers, save lives and reduce instances of serious injury caused.

"Victims want to see justice and for no other families to go through what they have had to experience."

Planning permission needed for scheme to use farm buildings as holiday lets

THE owners of farm buildings in Aughton, currently let as residential accommodation, have been told they need planning permission to lease them out to holidaymakers.

An application was submitted to West Lancs Council for a Certficiate of Lawfulness for the stables, barn and farmhouse of Swan Farm to be used for holiday letting "in the style of Airbnb."

This would enable guests to book online, make arrangements to allow access and be able to enjoy their preferred unit for the duration of their stay without outside assistance or interference.

The applicant advised that initially there would be a maximum of four guests in each property, subject to review and demand. And, as no material changes to the properties were required, it was suggested that planning permission for a change of use was not required.

However, a report by senior planning officer, Kerry Scanlon, stated that as the potential number of people and vehicles that might use the site would have an impact on the local area, planning permission is required.

Ms Scanlon wrote: "Although the applicant advises there will be a maximum of four guests in each property initially, they also inform that this is subject to review and demand. Collectively, the use of the three units for short-term holiday lettings (totalling 13 bedrooms) could accommodate as many as 25 or 26 people at any one time.

"In my view, given the size of the units, particularly Swan farmhouse which internally has six bedrooms, could attract large groups of people. This may lead to multiple vehicles at the property entering and leaving the site particularly if change-over between groups happen on the same day."

Pupils get creative again for Parbulele programme contest

PUPILS at local primary schools have once again been putting their artistic talents to the test as part of the Parbold Ukulele Festival, Parbulele, which this year is set for Friday to Sunday, August 2 to 4.

In the previous two years the youngsters competed to design mascots for the event - firstly, Mr Ukulele and then Mrs Ukulele.

This year though their challenge was to create a front and back cover for the festival's programme.

The competition was fierce with four schools - Parbold Douglas CE Academy, Our Lady and All Saints RC Primary, Appley Bridge All Saints CE Primary and Newburgh CE Primary School - taking part.

It was a tough task but judge, professional ukulele artist Andrea Cooke, finally declared 11-year-old Hettie Mackay from Newburgh Primary as the winner.

And although she was unfortunately unable to attend the official awards event at Coffee Etc. in Station Road, Parbold, she was the proud winner of a £25 gift voucher to spend in a music shop, provided by festival organiser, Gary Smith.

There were also prizes of a £10 voucher to spend at Coffee Etc, for the best entries in individual schools, as chosen by their teachers.

Gary Smith said: "I would like to thank all four schools for entering, it's great to have their support. All local schools are invited and hopefully next year more may enter.

"I would also like to thank Coffee Etc. for allowing us to use their cafe and also for donating the £10 voucher for each of the school finalists and a massive thank-you to Andrea Cooke who came along to judge the competition and played for us on the night."

Meanwhile Gary is seeking to invite any youngsters, aged five to 12, who would like to join a ukulele band which meets weekly at Coffee Etc. Anyone interested can contact him by email at gs.svs-ltd@live.co.uk or by ringing 07495 332 770. For more information about Parbulele and/or tickets visit the website www.parbulele.co.uk.

Green-fingered pupils put their achievements on display at Show What You Grow Day

SCHOOLCHILDREN from across West Lancs celebrated their growing achievements at the annual Show What You Grow Day.

More than 50 children from eight schools took their school-grown produce, homemade scarecrows and displays of their work to the celebration event organised by the Community Food Growing project of West Lancs CVS and West Lancs Allotment Federation.

After the Mayor of West Lancashire Gaynar Owen had opened the event, the children enjoyed explaining their gardening activities as she toured the displays. They then enthusiastically demonstrated their skills in the gardening quiz, the Grow Your Own activity books and by creating fantastic bugs, bees and butterflies out of vegetables.

In the afternoon the children took to the stage to share their gardening club stories and then cheered on their teachers as they took part in a welly-throwing competition.

And the day ended with prizegiving and the taking home of a range of goodies to help their growing efforts in the year ahead.

Skelmersdale-based business, All About Food, donated a prize for the Best Display of Work won by Holmeswood Methodist School. The school's gardening club will visit All About Food's office, The Tree House based on the West Lancs Investment Centre to find out more about their partnership with farmers and sustainable agriculture, followed by by lunch at Nando's.

West Lancs CVS is grateful to West Lancashire College for the use of their gym as the event venue; Up Holland Tawd Vale Lions for funding the event and M.A. Forshaw of Scarisbrick who provided the vegetables.

Care trust excellence recognised at prestigious financial awards

LANCASHIRE Care NHS Foundation Trust has been recognised for its "dedication to providing excellent services" at the prestigious Healthcare Financial Management Association (HFMA) North West Awards.

The awards celebrate the dedication of the best in healthcare finance in the region.

This year, the trust was Highly Commended in the Innovation category in recognition of the work it has undertaken to make measurable improvements in the quality of services it provides.

It received the award for working collaboratively with local NHS and public sector partners to improve the Health and Social Care Network (HSCN) across the Lancashire Integrated Care System.

The HSCN is a new data network that allows health and care organisations to access and exchange electronic information, helping clinicians to deliver more timely care and a better patient experience.

The project has not only created "considerable savings" for the NHS, but has also included Lancashire Fire & Rescue, connecting nearly 400 sites across Lancashire with improved network performance, speed and security.

The new network underpins the healthcare systems that doctors and nurses use and delivers important improvements in performance as well as securing against future malware and cyber-attacks.

Healthcare scheme to 'transform way GP practices work'

New Primary Care Networks should provide 'more joined-up care for NHS patients'

Report by Henry James

A SCHEME being described as the 'biggest transformation to the way family doctors work in more than a generation' has been launched across the region.

It will see general practices, large and small, working to support each other while offering a wider range of specialist care services to patients from a range of health professionals.

GPs will recruit multi-disciplinary teams, including pharmacists, physiotherapists, paramedics, physician associates and social prescribing support workers, freeing up family doctors to focus on the sickest patients.

Around 7,000 general practices - more than 99% - have come together across England to form almost 1,300 new Primary Care Networks.

Anthony Leo, director of Primary Care and Public Health for the NHS in the North West said: "Primary Care Networks allow the practices within them to think differently about the services they are offering to their patients.

Anthony Leo, director of Primary Care and Public Health for the NHS in the North West

"By working together, they can share the workload and ease pressure on the individual practice teams."

It is hoped the scheme will attract extra investment to sustain general practice in the short term and improve access to family doctors, expanded services at local practices and longer appointments for patients who need them.

Primary medical and community care, which forms a major commitment of the NHS Long Term Plan, will see neighbouring practices working more closely together and with other services in their area to provide more joined-up care for patients.

The additional funding from the five-year GP Contract agreed with the British Medical Association (BMA) at the end of January, includes £1.8billion to fund the recruitment of 20,000 more specialist health care staff to support general practices.

Up to 40% of GP appointments don't need to be with a family doctor and the new recruits will free up GPs to spend more time with patients who need them most, offering longer appointments to those who need them, as well ensuring patients can get a wide range of expert specialist services at their local practice.

It is claimed the NHS Long Term Plan will see funding for primary medical and community care increase as a share of the NHS budget for the first time in the health service's 70-year history, with an extra £4.5 billion invested by 2023.

Primary school plays host to Korean visitors

EAST met West (Lancs, that is!) when an Ormskirk primary school played host to a party of teachers and students from South Korea.

The Oriental visitors, who are training to teach English at Seoul National University, are currently in the UK as part of a link-up with Edge Hill University.

And as part of their schedule they enjoyed a tour of Asmall Primary in Tennyson Drive and spent time in each of the classes meeting the children and learning about how subjects are taught here.

The school's deputy head, Rebecca Whitfield, said: "The children have been learning about South Korea and were looking forward to meeting the visiting group. And our pupils made us very proud, they were the perfect hosts. We hope to keep in touch with our visitors in the future."

When it comes to high-speed rail Europe is on the fast track

WHAT, I wonder, is an MP elected for?

Simple soul that I am, I have always had the idea that he or she is placed in the House of Commons to represent the views and wishes of those who elected him or her. And that is where I start getting confused these days.

Because in two vitally important issues, both of which will change this country of ours considerably during the coming decades, some MPs seem hell-bent on ignoring the wishes of those who elected them, using that old chestnut 'it's a matter of conscience' as an excuse for so doing.

One, obviously, is Brexit. Now it matters not one whit what I think about it, but if I were your elected representative in Parliament I hope I would be honest enough to let you know what my opinion was (and why).

And having done so be brave enough to say: "Right, when it comes to the debate my personal view is (a) or (b), but you have shown by a majority that this is not what you feel, and therefore I will be voting for your preference, even if it means voting against my own party's line" - depending of course on whether that party has one or not.

I was listening to a radio interview when an MP told the interviewer that well, yes, about two thirds of her voters had expressed their view in the referendum - stay in or get out - but that she knew better and would therefore be voting the other way.

What blooming arrogance.

But surely when we vote for our member of Parliament yes, we want him/her to do the best for all members of the constituency in their considered opinion, particularly if it follows the policy set forward in the party's manifesto. Which, indeed, is what we were told would happen (or not, as the case may be).

But this changes if the wish of the majority has been shown to be different in a referendum.

Which brings me to that other contentious piece of legislation currently making its slow progress through Westminster, HS2.

In this case there has been no 'people's vote', but in any constituency I'd bet a pound to a Euro that local opinion polls will have given the incumbent MP a pretty good idea of the actual wishes of those who voted them in.

Now any MP might think those views are wrong and, particularly if they have an informed view of the benefits or otherwise of a high-speed rail link, they should, through local media and meetings, try to get their voters to see it their way.

And this one, like Brexit, is far more complicated than it seems from the outside. Because this whole project seems unlikely to bear fruit - if bearing fruit is what is decided - while I am still in any position to care one way or another, I find it a trifle difficult to work up a sweat on this one.

But for those somewhat younger than me, this is another project which could have a major bearing on life in Great Britain and deserves serious thought and not knee-jerk reaction.

Mind you, one thing about HS2 that really does puzzle me is the long, long timetable for it, assuming it gets the go-ahead.

I don't think anyone has seriously linked HS2 with Brexit but this whole question of high-speed rail is one example I can think of where the majority of Europe takes a different line (track?) to us.

When the French, Germans, Spanish or Italians decide they want a modern, high-speed rail system, guess what? The Government gets on with it, without the endless inquiries and public meetings, having first told their population what it has in mind, and presumably their local political parties have likewise told them what its position is on it.

Quite honestly, I think we have a pretty good system of Government in the UK.

But these two projects serve to show where it can fall short.

Wellbeing group founder's 'golden' gifts put a smile on primary pupils' faces

THE founder of a recently-established wellbeing group has been sharing advice on the subject at a local primary school where she hid five envelopes containing gifts for the children to find.

Find Wellbeing is a non-profit community initiative set up by Rufford resident Adele Normington which aims to promote comfort, health and happiness through random acts of kindness.

Each week Find Wellbeing hides a gold envelope in the Burscough and Rufford area containing a gift, donated by a local business or charity, aimed at promoting wellbeing.

Adele was welcomed to Burscough Bridge Methodist Primary School where she addressed children and staff in an assembly to start their Wellbeing Week

She then left five golden envelopes for the children to find during the week. Inside were a range of wellbeing books for the children to read in their classes and then keep in the school library.

Headteacher, Mrs Louise Tyrer, said: "The children had a lovely week searching for the golden envelopes but also taking the time to focus on what really makes them happy and what they can do for their friends, their family and the wider community. We have now adopted the phrase 'If you see someone without a smile, give them one of yours!'"

Aspiring professional wrestler Ethan,15, set for 'home' debut

AN aspiring professional wrestler from West Lancashire will make his public debut on 'home' territory on Sunday, July 21 at Ormskirk Civic Hall.

Ethan Kelly, a pupil at Ormskirk School, has been in training for more than a year with World Wrestling Entertainment UK tag team champions Zack Gibson and James Drake, the founders of Fighting Spirit Pro-Wrestling in Maghull.

Now the 15-year-old is set to take to the ring himself in front of family and friends at an event called Face Off, organised by Ormskirk-based wrestling promoters This Is Wrestling.

Ethan's bout will see him taking part in a 'triple threat match' also featuring Magnificent Matt Fox and Spanish sensation, El Guano Carlos Zamora.

Other wrestlers featured on the bill are This Is Wrestling champion, Sandy Beach, Philip Michael, Dylan Roberts, Joe Rage, among others.

Doors open at 2.40pm and the event is expected to run until around 5pm. For details of tickets ring 07872 599 608.

Flying start for new Rotary club president

THE newly-installed president of the Rotary Club of Ormskirk Clocktower started his year of office with a bang - with almost £600 raised for good causes in the first week!

Founder member Steve Graham (left) from Aughton took over the presidency at the start of the month determined to make it a year to remember as the club celebrates 10 years since its inauguration.

And the father-of-three certainly started as he means to go on as the first event under his tenure saw the club host a concert at Scarisbrick Village Hall which raised £320 for the Pearl of Africa Children's choir and The Molly & Paul Foundation, a charity supporting orphaned children in Uganda.

And the following day, club members raised a further £252.50 by making and selling candy floss at the Westhead Carnival.

New president Steve said: "A grand total of £572.50 funds raised in one weekend is a great start to our year!"

Short break service for carers to be reviewed

LANCASHIRE County Council has announced it is looking to work closer with the families of children and young people with special educational needs to help redesign the service which gives them a 'break' from their caring role.

The move comes following a public consultation earlier this year where people were asked to give their opinions on potentially ceasing the Lancashire Break Time service.

In total, more than 750 responses were received which has now led to plans to have another look at the service and the help it gives children and their families to ensure it meets the needs of those who use it.

Members of the council's cabinet will be asked next month to formally agree a proposal to redesign the whole of the short break service in conjunction with families and carers.

Executive director for education and children's services, Edwina Grant.

The council's executive director for education and children's services, Edwina Grant, said: "I would like to thank everyone who took the time to respond to our consultation. We have listened to your views and through the responses we received it has become clear that we need to look at the whole short break service and not just Lancashire Break Time, to deliver a service that better meets your needs.

"We recognise that the wider service provision is quite traditional and could be better designed around the needs of children and their families.

"We therefore want to look at how we can consider the whole service offer in partnership with parents and carers and we will be carrying out a range of activities that include face-to-face meetings with parents and carers to shape a new service offer.

"In the meantime, the Lancashire Break Time service will continue in its current form until the review of how short breaks are to be delivered is completed."

The report to formally agree the way forward will be considered by members of the cabinet on August 8.

Book of the Year Award winner announced

SARAH Crossan was named winner of this year's Lancashire's Book of the Year Award for her novel Moonrise at a prestigious presentation ceremony at the University of Central Lancashire in Preston.

Now in its 33rd year, the award, organised by Lancashire County Council, remains one of the few where young people are responsible for drawing up the shortlist and choosing the overall winner.

The judges are pupils from school years 8 and 9 (aged between 13 and 14) at 24 high schools across the county, including Ormskirk School.

Moonrise is about the brothers, Joe and Ed, who haven't seen each other for 10 years, and what happens to thier relationship when Ed is on death row in Texas for murdering a police officer.

A "thrilled" Sarah said: "It is an honour for Moonrise to be recognised like this, and what makes the award so special is that it's been decided by students. It's amazing to think representatives from 24 high schools across Lancashire debated my book and chose it.

"I'd like to thank everyone involved in the award."

County Councillor Phillippa Williamson, Lancashire's cabinet member for children, young people and schools, added: "This is a fun way to encourage young people to read and help us maintain the county's high literacy levels.

"The love of reading that is shared by so many young people was clear for everyone to see and it has been a pleasure to share that enthusiasm for reading with everyone at the event."

Go-ahead for village houses plan despite parish council objections

PLANS to build five detached houses to the rear of 64 The Gravel, Mere Brow, have been approved by West Lancs Council, despite objections from Tarleton Parish Council.

The application for the five, four-bed properties and one detached garage was made by Bella Homes.

In a comment to the borough council, Neil Leadbetter, clerk to the parish council, said: "The parish council sees this as yet another over-development of a small village. The whole character of the village is being destroyed.

"The style of the development is just not in keeping with that of the village.

"The parish council has objected to previous developments in the village on the basis of severe infrastructure issues. This project yet again adds to the problem."

The developer must begin construction within three years.

You'll also be able to see bugs in microscopic detail using specialist equipment in our new pond house.
And as if all of that wasn't enough, you can find out all about our amazing poisonous Spur Winged Goose and their bug diet of blister beetles during your visit, plus you can get creative with some buggy crafts in the craft room.
Make the most of your visit by taking part in the wide range of additional activities available at our centre. For the young adventurers, there's plenty of areas to explore. Venture through three types of 'wild' wetland in one mile-long VIP walk – wellies are a must in the Wild Walk area!
For thrill seekers, make sure you check out Rushes play area. From zip wire screams and scramble net laughs, to treehouse trailblazing and water zone wonders, the huge adventure playground with wet play is a total rush for ages 3 to 12 and a perfect way to cool down on those hot summer days.
Get the family together and spend some time in the great outdoors this summer.

Scarecrow festival a 'roaring success'

Organiser "overwhelmed" by community's support for village event and worthy causes

Report by Kenny Parker

Wallace and Gromit - one of the winning entries at the Burscough Scarecrow Festival.

BURSCOUGH'S second scarecrow festival has been hailed a "roaring success" by one of the organisers, who says she has been brought to tears by the overwhelming support of the community for her charity work.

Now in its second year, the village's scarecrow festival has established itself as a major local spectacle with more than 100 entries.

On the last day of the event, there was also a fun day featuring a bake-off competition and a dog show, along with live music provided by Mersey Beats, singer Sam Simpson and CD Music Academy.

Prizes were awarded by the Mayor of West Lancs, Councillor Gaynar Owen including for best international entry won by Nana Bekor International School in Ghana!

The school is supported by not-for-profit One Little Village, which cares for poor and orphaned children in Ghana and was co-founded by one of the scarecrow festival organisers, Julie Woods.

Fellow organisers of the festival were Rachel Domigan and Paula Hughes, along with Joanne and Dennis Fenna,

Although the total amount raised is not yet finalised, Julie said thousands of people turned out for the event.

Proceeds will go to Burscough's Grove Youth and Community Project, and Michael Dawson, founder of history group, Images of Burscough and Surrounding Areas who is raising money to produce local history books for local nursing homes to help people living with dementia.

Also, during the weekend there was a plastic duck race which raised £2,621 for One Little Village, which will use the money to help set up a laboratory to prepare antidotes for snake bites.

Juli Woods said: "The event was absolutely awesome, a roaring success. We might only be a little village tucked away in Lancashire but the community is absolutely overwhelming.

"I can't thank everybody enough for all that they have done to support the scarecrow festival and the Ghana project,

"People have been dropping off little SOS packages at my door to help me while I am over there. It's just incredible."

Old gas mains upgrade project near completion

A PROJECT to upgrade a two-and-a-half-mile stretch of an old gas main underneath the A59 between Maghull and Ormskirk is set to be completed soon.

The old pipe, installed just after the Second World War, was showing signs of its age with 25 leaks needing to be fixed in a recent 12-month period alone.

The diameter of a car tyre, it has been decommissioned in steady phases with a new plastic pipe then inserted into the old metallic main.

Having started close to Ormskirk in January and moving south to Maghull in stages, it is now expected that the project will be finished weeks, ahead of schedule. The project had been planned to continue until September.

Cadent who carried out the work, said the new pipe will last for at least 80 years, with little or no disruptive maintenance.

The company has worked with local authority highways planners to agree safe work areas, involving lane closures along the northbound lane of the A59.

Engineers strived to keep supplies on throughout for residents and local businesses, navigated big roundabouts and recently installed a new section in a narrow gap above a subway and below the road surface.

Craig Horrocks, who heads Cadent's gas mains renewal programme in the North West, said: "This project is one of the biggest we've carried out in recent years in our North West network. It has needed a lot of support to get it planned in and completed, working closely with highways teams at both Lancashire County Council and Sefton Council. We are grateful to everyone for that."

Wombats' frontman looks ahead to solo show in hometown

MATTHEW "Murph" Murphy, who is the guitarist and lead singer of indie pop trio The Wombats, has announced his debut solo project Love Fame Tragedy.

The project's first EP, I Don't Want To Play The Victim, But I'm Really Good At It, recorded between London and LA and featuring a raft of musical collaborators, is out in September via Good Soldier Songs / AWAL Recordings.

Matthew will perform at Liverpool Arts Club on September 11 and will play debut single 'My Cheating Heart' debuted on BBC Radio 1 as Annie Mac's 'Hottest Record' and is available to stream now on all DSPs.

Undeniably infectious and built around a distorted guitar riff, 'My Cheating Heart' delves into the temptations of hedonistic excess.

Producer Mark Crew (Bastille, Rag'n'Bone Man) adds a warped, synthetic edge to Murph's irrepressible songwriting talent, creating an arena-ready head-nodder that sets the tone for his forthcoming debut solo EP.

Matthew Murphy

Named after a seminal Pablo Picasso exhibition at the Tate Modern, Love Fame Tragedy sees Murph joined by a variety of friends and collaborators for I Don't Want To Play The Victim, But I'm Really Good At It, including Pixies' Joey Santiago, Gus Unger-Hamilton of Alt-J, model and singer Maddi Jean Waterhouse, and former Soundgarden and Pearl Jam drummer Matt Chamberlain.

Maghull Wind Orchestra

Church gets new platform stage to improve views

ST Andrew's Church, on Damfield Lane, Maghull have installed a new platform stage.

They have done it to make the space in church a better viewing for future plays and concerts without changing the use of the building for church services.

The platform will also enhance the church's worship and the church members who have already seen it, said it looks like it has always been there.

Local band, Maghull Wind Orchestra is to perform a special concert to celebrate the installation of the new platform.

The concert is to take place on Tuesday, July 23 at 7.30pm at St Andrew's Church, Damfield Lane, Maghull L31 6DD.

Tickets are £5 on the door.

Celebration of music manages to hit the right note with audience!

A Journey Through Song
S.O.N.G. at Greenbank Theatre
Review by Ron Ellis

DIRECTED and choreographed by Kelly Bond, this was a celebration of forty years of S.O.N.G. featuring 22 current members performing songs from various shows that the company have staged over the years.

The format the production took was to solicit tributes from former members who have gone on to make successful careers in the entertainment business, both in the spotlight or backstage, many of them household names.

These glowing references were read out onstage in turn by today's young members, with a picture of each writer emblazoned on a large screen, after which the group performed a number from one of the shows that person had performed in.

What came across most of all was that, in addition to the learning of acting, singing, dance and stagecraft that had formed the basis of their careers, each of them emphasised the bonds of friendship formed during their time at S.O.N.G that had lasted a lifetime.

This was undoubtedly a commendable formula for the evening, both to illustrate the benefits of belonging to the society, and therefore encouraging parents to bring their own children to join, with the added bonus of parading the success of past members.

However, in practice, the execution of it caused problems for those in the audience who had merely come to be entertained by an evening of popular songs from the musicals.

For a start, the photos of each 'celebrity' bore no mention of their name or their own theatrical achievements. Who were these people?

A wasted opportunity to show the casual visitor just how much S.O.N.G had contributed to their achievements in later life. A list in the programme would have helped.

Also, the songs chosen to represent each show were rarely the most well-known numbers that one might have expected.

This should have been a 'Greatest Hits' collection of show tunes.

Nonetheless, it was a good advert for the society and, as always, the children did well.

Enough to believe more of them will follow their illustrious predecessors.

Star Rating: 6 out of 10. Good idea but it could have been so much more.

Rock opera was a 'fun-filled evening'

American Idiot
Playhouse Liverpool
Review by Pete Rimmer

WIKIPEDIA says that a rock opera is a collection of rock music songs with lyrics that relate to a common story. Rock operas are typically released as concept albums and are not scripted so to see a show based on the album American Idiot by the band Green Day is no surprise.

Written by the band's lead singer Billie Joe Armstrong and theatre director Michael Mayer, the show is a mix of being at a live rock concert and some great acting, however the story itself is a bit on the thin side.

Three young fellas try to leave Jingletown but only two manage it and move to the big city to live a life of sex and drugs and rock and roll leaving one behind to stay with his pregnant girlfriend.

Of the two who do get there, one joins the army and comes back injured whilst Johnny very well played by Tom Milner the main character, lives a life of misery on drugs.

So with a plot line like that I was not sure a fun night was in store for the packed first night at the Playhouse.

Well the big surprise is that it was.

Filled with some great songs, singing, dancing and great acting it turns out to be an enjoyable piece of theatre.

All the hits from the album "American Idiot", "Boulevard of Broken Dreams", "Holiday", "Wake Me Up When September Ends" and "Jesus of Suburbia "are featured .

Good performances from all the cast but Luke Friend from X Factor fame playing St Jimmy and Sam Lavery as Whatsername gave standout performances.

The on stage four piece full on rock band gave a great performance.

Good use of on stage props and video made this an interesting night out for post punk rock fans and anyone who like their music loud.

Star Rating: 8 out of 10. Look out for it when it comes round again.

Pendle Productions 'The Storytellers' Theatre Company will be returning to the Botanic Gardens

Botanic Gardens to host outdoor family theatre

"IT certainly is", goes the shout as the mermaid soars above the ground in Southport's Botanic Gardens this summer.

This is all part of the spectacular summer outdoor season of family shows running throughout July and August this summer in your favourite local park.

Pendle Productions 'The Storytellers' Theatre Company are returning to the Botanic Gardens in Southport this summer each Thursday with its professional family theatre with shows at midday and 2.30pm.

"The idea is to bring the family and a picnic and enjoy the beautiful parkland whilst watching a family show that is sure to enthrall and entertain" said Tim Lince Company director.

"It is all part of an exciting season that there is on offer this summer with something for everyone and at a price that really can be afforded".

You can book show tickets at £16 for a family of three allowing an adult to go free with two children. Individual tickets are £8.

The season starts this year on the July 25 with the madcap adventures of "Alice through the looking Glass" where Tweedle Dum and Tweedle Dee burst out onto the stage in glorious technicolour.

This is followed by the summer pantomime "Cinderella" with a real carriage and spectacular transformation.

Then it is grab the edge of your blankets as we float up through the water to visit the mermaids in the classic tale of "The Little Mermaid" with real life mermaids floating up into the air.

Then with climate change in the press sit back and be entertained by two of the most loveable dragons you have ever seen in the heartwarming musical of "The Dragon who lost his Home".

So there you have the six weeks of the summer holiday taken care of and all out in the beautiful environment that is Southport's Botanic Gardens. Performances take place in an enclosed area in the park opposite the Children's Play area.

Season tickets with great savings are available for those who wish to follow all productions in this years summer season.

Tickets are available from www.summertheatretickets.co.uk or from the box office on 0800 788 0526

The dedication of our staff is what sets us apart.

Parkhaven Trust
Established 1888

Parkhaven Trust has been responding to the changing needs of service users for over 100 years. We are a well-established charity, providing a range of excellent residential and support services across Maghull, Merseyside, with a proven record for staff training and development. We know that kindness, compassion and reliability are key qualities for the delivery of excellent services. If you share our values and passion for providing choices to those who need care then we want to hear from you.

The Beeches is a new residential and nursing service for people with dementia, set in the parkland of Parkhaven Trust. Using our considerable experience and guidance from the Dementia Design Centre at Stirling University we have designed the building to provide the highest quality environment to cater for the needs of people with dementia. Circadian lighting, acoustic monitoring and electronic care planning have been installed to ensure that people are supported and cared for using the latest technology and to support staff to spend more time with people. Offering nutritionally balanced meals and choice to meet the needs of our service users.

Clinical Lead and Deputy Manager

(Registered Mental Health Nurse)

Salary from: £30,831 - £32,705 per annum - 35 hours per week

An exciting opportunity has arisen for a Clinical Lead / Deputy Manager for our new service. This will be a 45 bed Dementia unit with 2 x 15 bed dementia households and a 15 bed EMI nursing unit to be staffed with registered mental health nurses. This unit has been designed and built in line with Stirling University recommendations for the care of people with Dementia. The building is designed utilising circadian lighting and the latest technology including electronic care plans.

As the Clinical Lead you would have particular responsibility for the management of behaviour that challenges including the review of care plans and the education of staff.

This is a great opportunity to be part of an exciting innovative new service. You must be an RMN able to demonstrate excellent understanding of dementia and the ability to motivate staff to develop skills and deliver the highest standards of care. You will be required to participate in some clinical care delivery to ensure compliance with CQC requirements and to monitor best practice.

Care Supervisor

Salary up to £19,692 per annum (35 Hours per Week)

This role would suit a forward thinking, professional individual who is looking for more responsibility to develop their skills and take the next step in their career. As an experienced Care Worker with a level 3 qualification in Health and Social Care you will be able to demonstrate strong leadership skills which will be essential in leading and supervising a team of care staff to deliver the highest standards of care.

Senior Care Worker – Days

Salary up to £17,654 per annum (35 Hours per Week)

As a Senior Care Worker you will have or be working towards the level 3 qualification in Health and Social Care and be able to demonstrate strong leadership skills. You will be required to lead shifts and administer medication and liaise with relatives and external authorities to maintain effective relationships and meet the needs of service users.

CLOSING DATE: 26th July 2019 • INTERVIEW DATE: 1st August 2019

For an application pack, please call our 24 hour recruitment line on 0151 527 3667 or email: louisa.williams@parkhaven.org.uk

My highlight is the rally stars going 'up the hill'

SO, the brake dust has settled and the tyre marks on the tarmac have finally been swept up. The Goodwood Festival of Speed – arguably now the nation's biggest event for seeing exciting new cars – is over for another year.

Anyone who ventured the 270 miles south (I've long thought that the Duke of Richmond should set up a northern spin-off, but that's another story) would have seen the new Land Rover Defender, albeit as a heavily disguised test mule, ahead of its official launch.

They also got a sneak preview of the new Lotus supercar, the Evija, and a chance to check out Ford's latest ST hot hatch.

But the highlight is getting to see all sorts of shiny supercars, single seaters and race and rally stars going "up the hill" – as in being driven to within an inch of their lives up a road snaking its way through the grounds of Goodwood House.

A 20-year-old record was smashed by Volkswagen, which pummelled its all-electric ID.R racer along the course in a staggering 39.9 seconds.

I'm not sure what the slowest time up the hill at this year's event was – but I've a sneaking suspicion it might have been me.

I know this because even though the batch of cars getting ready to thunder past the Goodwood crowds wasn't even within sniffing distance of the ID.R's vital stats, they were still pretty well endowed when it came to outright oomph; entries included the Ferrari GTC-4 Lusso, Lamborghini's Huracán and McLaren's 570S Spider.

Meanwhile, some very brave people at Citroën asked if I'd like to have a crack. In a 2CV.

Sportingly, they'd given me the fastest version on offer – a 1989 2CV6, which has a 602cc two-cylinder engine rather than the earlier 425cc version – but that still meant I had just 29bhp to play with and a 0-60mph time of 29.8 seconds.

Ever watched For Your Eyes Only and wondered how Roger Moore managed to get away from a brace of Peugeot-driving baddies in one?

He didn't – the cars they used in the film had been fitted with engines from the GS, whereas the car I'd been entrusted with hadn't.

But that didn't matter a jot once the brand-new supercars had screeched off into the distance, racking up times the French big-seller could only dream of, because everyone loved the 2CV.

Crowds unmoved by yet another Ferrari cheered and waved when they saw it leaning and lurching through the corners, its skinny tyres doing their best to squeeze every last mile an hour out of the car.

A few minutes later it'd chalked up yet another fan.

It's the first time I've really driven a 2CV for any meaningful length of time, and I loved its packaging, its characterful two-cylinder clatter, its light but beautifully communicative steering and, best of all, how it keeps motoring to the bare minimum and puts 110 per cent into the few things it does have.

Never have I been so delighted to have finished last – but if it's smiles-per-pound we're judging this year's Festival of Speed on, I reckon I've found the standout winner.

Updated version of Passat on sale

AN updated version of Volkswagen's Passat is available to order now.

The rival to Ford's Mondeo and Vauxhall's Insignia is available both as a saloon and an estate, with a choice of either two petrol engines or three turbodiesel units beneath the bonnet.

The cheapest in the range is the SE saloon with the 1.6-litre TDI diesel engine, which starts at £27,630, while the R-Line, an estate with a two-litre turbodiesel and four-wheel-drive, tops off the range with a £45,050 pricetag.

There's also a plug-in hybrid version, the Passat GTE on the way. The new range is available to order now, with cars due to arrive here in the UK next month.

Kimberley. B - Verified Purchase
Great experience with Liverpool Car Centre! ★★★★★

Scott. B - Verified Purchase
Excellent ★★★★★

Paul. E - Verified Purchase
Friendly, informative and couldn't do enough to make sure I was happy with the car I bought. Got the deal done with speed and quality as I needed a very quick turnaround and they ensured this happened. Overall very happy. ★★★★★

Ian. B - Verified Purchase ★★★★★
From the moment I entered Liverpool Car Centre after being recommend by 5 friends who all bought a car from this showroom. I would without hesitation recommend this showroom to people that are looking to buy an excellent used car I will buy my next car here without a doubt

Kimberley. K - Verified Purchase
Would highly recommend Liverpool Car Centre, and will definitely be returning in the future to buy another ★★★★★

Mike. K - Verified Purchase ★★★★★
I have just purchased a BMW 420D from this dealership this is the 3rd car over the space of 10yrs I have bought from Liverpool car Centre I cannot recommend this dealership highly enough.

Skem Ladies clinch first victory but men fall short in cup final

SKEM Women's and Girl's took their first competitive victory on Sunday against Maghull Maidens.

It was part of the L&DACC Women's Softball tournament which saw seven teams play out across the day.

Skem hosted the match and a great day was had by all.

There was nothing but praise given by the other teams to the organisation and enjoyment of the day!

Meanwhile, the 1st XI travelled to Winstanley Park to face New Victoria in the Pochin Cup Final and fell just short in exciting match.

New Victoria won the toss and elected to bat first and after two straight sixes Hawksworth held out to Chris Tromp on the boundary, Jonas Smith taking his first of the match.

He took his second soon after finding the edge, the catch completed by Ian Girvin. Despite a wicket from Phil Wright, New Victoria made good progress.

Kyle Till made the breakthrough with his first and only over of the day and Wright went on to take a screamer at long on sufficient enough to lift Skem's spirits.

New Victoria posted 217 and Skem felt they were in the game.

The chase got off to a bad start as Harry Marston edged one to the keeper in the first over.

Thankfully Barry Leadbetter and Joe Till had the clear mindset of putting pressure on the bowling and they did so, hitting fours of the highest pedigree. Joe Till fell to a short ball from Mills but Leadbetter continued attacking, supported by Tromp.

Sixes came at a premium as the former blasted to his 50.

He wasn't done. Skem were well in the game as he continued to attack, the run rate gradually decreasing.

On 76, he agonisingly held out to deep mid-wicket who held onto a smart catch. Three quick wickets later and Skem were struggling, the run rate and wickets steadily increasing.

Wright his three late sixes to keep Skem in the game and resistance from Girvin towards the end kept Skem's hopes alive. Unfortunately, it was in vain as Skem fell 16 runs short.

On Saturday, the 1st XI travelled the short journey to Prescott and Odyssey.

Hoping to replicate last weeks' performance, they arrived in confident spirits.

Just before the 100 partership between Joe Till (49) and Mike Houghton (38), Till fell. Important runs were made by Jonas Smith (30), Ian Girvin (17), and Luke Manley (21). Skem finished on 197-8 after their 45 overs, a total they were very confident of defnding considering the recent bowling performances.

After taking four wickets last week, Luke Manley was well in form again.

P&O came out looking to attack, the only successful batsman being Birch, he blasted a quickfire 76 in a strange but nonetheless explosive innings.

Otherwise, the top scorer was Avery who made 13.

Simply, Manley was too good. He took six wickets in all as P&O limped to 106 all out. Matt Fenney and Jonas Smith both took two in a comprehensive Skem victory.

Century from Rankin sets up Ormskirk win

ORMSKIRK moved up to second in the Liverpool & District Cricket Competition Premier Division table after they recorded a comfortable 98 run win at bottom placed Lytham, writes Glenn Wallworth.

Electing to bat first Ormskirk were able to declare their innings on 242-3 thanks to an unbeaten maiden century for the senior team from opener Alex Rankin 126* (inc 11x4 & 4x6) and a half century from George Lavelle 56.

In reply, Ryan Maddock 4-39, Scott Lees 3-23, Tom Hartley 3-45 plus five catches from keeper Gary Knight made sure the hosts got nowhere near their target as they were dismissed for 144, with Matthew Cartmell 53 top scoring.

Bootle remain top after a dramatic one wicket win at Orrell Red Triangle, the hosts elected to bat and posted 198 up on the board, thanks to runs from Andrew Mottram 73, an unbeaten 41 from Andy Baybutt and 37 from Minhaj Bhada, whilst the majority of the wickets were taken by Danny Davies 3-13, Vishal Tripathi 3-47 and Will Purser 3-65.

In reply, Purser 36, Tripathi 36, Will Hale 31 and Davies 29 all made decent starts, but at 195-9 the game was in the balance until skipper Neil Williams 22* and last man Kieron New 5* took the visitors to victory on 202-9, with Bhada taking 6-76.

Northern recorded a low scoring four wicket home win against Wallasey, the visitors elected to bat with Neil Cross top scoring with 40 as they were dismissed for 108, with Tom Sephton helping himself to remarkable figures of 4-14 off 18.4 overs. In reply, an undefeated 56* from opener Taylor Cornall steadied the ship as the hosts recovered from 42-5 to seal victory on 109-6, with Sumit Ruikar 3-34 and Harry Meehan 3-43 taking the wickets to fall.

Alex Rankin.

Formby were held to a high scoring draw at home against Colwyn Bay, the hosts chose to bat and a second century of the season from Tatenda Taibu 144* and 52 from opener Ollie Sutton enabled them to declare their innings on 259-4.

In reply, skipper Sion Morris 109 cracked a century as he and Adam Campion 79 put the visitors within touching distance, until the introduction of skipper Elliot Ketteringham 3-15 put paid to the chase as his dismissal of both meant the Welshmen ended up seven runs short on 253-7.

Navdeep hits ton as Burscough hold Caldy

IN the Second Division, Burscough held out for a draw against second placed Caldy at School Lane.

The visitors chose to bat first and thanks to Chris Edwards 78, Malinga Amarasinghe 50 and Tyrone Adams 35 they were able to declare on 230-9, with Ryan Hughes taking 3-58.

In Burscough's reply, Navdeep Aujla hit an unbeaten century 102* (13x4 & 3x6) but the hosts had to hold on for a draw at the end finishing on 207-9.

Maghull got back to winning ways with a three wicket win at Sutton, the hosts were put in to bat and dismissed for 232, with Joseph Noctor 75 and Joe Smith 38 top scoring, whilst Joe Medew-Ewen took 6-53 which included four stumpings from Joe Walters. In reply, Anthony Molloy 62, Declan Devine 53*, Jon Ring 50 and Walters 34 all helped pave the way to victory on 236-7.

Skem face tough start to season with four away games

LEAGUE fixtures for the 2019-20 season for local rivals Burscough and Skelmersdale United have been announced and the game supporters were looking for is scheduled for Boxing Day, when Skelmersdale United will entertain Burscough writes Neil Leatherbarrow.

The return will take place at Burscough on Easter Monday, April 13.

These will be the first league West Lancashire derbies since January 2013, although they met in October 2017 at Victoria Park in the Liverpool County FA Senior Cup, when Burscough won 2-1.

Skelmersdale will begin their first season back in the North-West Counties League for 13 years with four consecutive away games and two of them are on paper their most difficult of the season.

Skem start at Ashton Athletic on Saturday, August 3 then the tough two, away to Bootle on Tuesday, August 6 and then Northwich Victoria on Saturday, August 17, both teams are strongly fancied to win the league.

Skem's first home game is against Barnoldswick Town on Saturday, August 24. On the last day of the season Skem will head down the M6 to play Hanley Town.

Burscough start with a home game against Winsford United on Saturday, August 3 followed by an away trip to Squires Gate on Tuesday, August 6.

In what may be termed the 'Parbold Hill derby' Burscough are at home to Charnock Richard on Saturday, October 5 and away on Saturday, February 1. Skelmersdale will take on Charnock Richard away on Saturday, September 7 and at home on Saturday, March 7.

The draws for the FA Cup and the FA Vase were made last week.

Both clubs are involved in the Extra Preliminary round on Saturday, August 10.

Skelmersdale will play South Yorkshire side Penistone Church at home, Burscough have a difficult one as they travel to play AFC Liverpool on the same date.

If Skelmersdale are successful against Penistone they are away to either City of Liverpool or Campion in the Preliminary Round, if Burscough are successful at AFC Liverpool they are away to Trafford.

It is a long time since Skelmersdale have played in the FA Vase and they start their campaign in the competition with a home game against New Mills in the first qualifying Round on Saturday, August 31, if they win they are at home again this time against either Wythenshawe Town or Goole.

Burscough travel to Yorkshire in the First Qualifying Round where they play AFC Emley a club they beat in the FA Cup a couple of years ago. If they repeat their victory at Emley they are at home to Scunthorpe based Winterton Rangers in the Second Qualifying Round.

Both clubs continue their warm up to the season this week, Skelmersdale are away to St Helens Town on Thursday, July 18, kick off 7.45pm, on Saturday, July 20 they entertain Wakefield AFC, kick off 3pm.

Burscough are away to Vauxhall Motors on Saturday, July 20, kick off 3pm.

Skelmersdale United and Burscough have asked us to remind supporters that season tickets are now available.

A full list of both Skelmersdale United's and Burscough's league fixture for next season can be viewed at the Hallmark Security League website.
